Getting Started

Welcome to Watermark. The easiest way to manage your water use and comply with GSA regulations.

We understand that complying with new regulations can be a daunting task, but with Watermark, you have a reliable partner to guide you through the process. Onboarding to Watermark is a simple and straight-forward process that consists of three easy steps:

Create a Water Account

A Water Account is a tool that allows you to track your water use, and keep up-to-date information that GSAs need for tracking and management purposes. You can create multiple water accounts, which can be helpful if you're managing water use for multiple businesses or clients.

Add Your Parcels

The second step is to add your parcels. These are the areas of land that you own or manage, and you will need to add them to your water account to track your water use on each parcel.

Add Your Wells

The final step is to add your wells (if required by your local GSA). This involves locating on a map and entering information about the wells you use to extract groundwater.
